Farm Song

by Carol Purington

So cold so clear...
how many steps from here
to Orion

Bright blue sky
cresting the snowy slope
oh a fox!

Sun sheen
on the icy hills
again a fox

Snow on the road
on the fields, on the branches...

NOTE: Biweekly updates are posted here.

Redundancy efforts are ongoing. The need for diverse path redundancy was made apparent during the outage during MLK week when a tree fell on a line off Adamsville road and the subsequent transformer fire took out the fiber and knocked out the entire town.

PFAS Testing - Free to Colrain homeowners

Massachusetts Department of Environmental Protection (MassDEP)'s now has a free sampling and analysis program for per- and polyfluoroalkyl substances (PFAS) in private drinking water wells. Because these chemicals have been used in many consumer products over the past 50 years, most people have been exposed to them. PFAS have been found to seep into surface soils, groundwater and surface water, and thereby contaminate drinking water, and exposures have been linked to a variety of health risks.

sample your well even without knowledge of specific potential sources of PFAS contamination, because many potential sources of PFAS have yet to be identified.

Colrain Transfer Station

Did you Know?

Did you know that our Colrain Transfer Station is actually able to accept items like tires, bulky waste (appliances, etc.), scrap metal, and construction waste on a regular basis? Many Franklin County towns have only one or two dates a year when their special waste can be accepted; we are fortunate that Colrain's schedule is much more open.

Fluorescent bulbs, including compact fluorescent lights (CFLs), some types of batteries, and mercury items are accepted at our Colrain transfer station. Handle carefully and hand to attendant.

Batteries and items such as fluorescent light bulbs, thermometers, and thermostats may contain mercury or heavy metals and should never be put in trash or recycling.

Recycle Your Clothing and Textiles!

A Salvation Army drop box for textile recycling is located at our Transfer Station.

Colrain Central School's student population will increase as Heath's schoolchildren start attending C.C.S. when their agreement with the Hawlemont Regional School District ends in June.

"I'm excited to be having the students from Heath join our school community," commented Colrain Central School Principal Amy Looman. "We recognize that this was a very difficult decision for the town of Heath to make, and we hope to do all we can to make the students and families feel welcome and like they belong here."

Colrain Historic Surprise

And wondered why it's there.
Did it protect the farmer
When there was weather in the air?
Was it to keep the wagon dry,
Outside shelter for the herd?
Was it access to the grass behind,
The wood lot? What's the word?
And then this narrow yellow door
I noticed to my right.
I pressed the antique thumb latch down
And guess what came to light?
A tiny room and all enclosed,
Vented windows way up high.
I wondered just how many times
I'd passed this doorway by.
A member since the eighties,
I'd toured house and barns before.
I wondered why in all that time,
No one pointed out this door.
A bench was built across the back,
Little room to turn around.
Rusted hook holds rusted lantern
In this precious place I'd found.
Lath and plaster on the walls
In a barn, who would have thought?
And on that plaster, maple leaves
Hand-stenciled, the whole lot.
The bench had two hinged covers
But they were both nailed shut.

My guess—for hiding two large holes
For doing you know what.
I imagined the Sears catalog,
Pages torn, not meant for reading.
I think by now you all must know
Which way this rhyme is leading.
The reason for this breezeway?
Pay attention one and all,

Guy Wheeler

Crafts of Colrain Studio Tour

Looking for new participants!

Here's your chance to get your work seen—and purchased right here in Colrain. Please contact Cynthia Herbert at Keldaby Farm or Peggy Davis, calligraphic art and upcycled items. Here is a list of requirements for membership in this group which is now planning its 19th tour!

A new member is expected to:

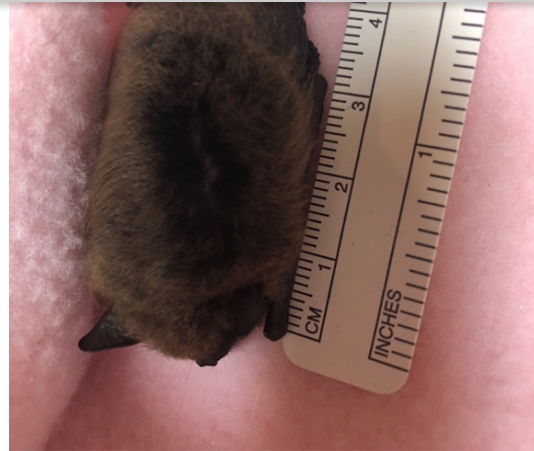

- Take on a role in one of the committees, such as signage, promotion, or social media and carry through with commitments
- Provide photographs of work for promotional material & website when requested.
- Pay an entry fee of $200, and if for any reason all members have to pay over $200 for that year's expenses, to pay the additional amount as well. For example, if we've all paid $200 and we decide to do additional radio advertising @$50 per member, new members would also pay another $50. We have often all contributed about $200; expenses vary according to support from local businesses and promotional expenses.
- Read group e-mails promptly and respond when needed.
- Attend monthly meetings (perhaps six a year) and any sub-committee meetings.
- Prepare a clean, attractive display space for the show and have sufficient work to sell product throughout the weekend.
- Promptly attend to any post-show responsibilities, e.g. correspondence, taking down and storing signs.
- We added an outdoor/indoor sales event in Shelburne Falls in 2021, and are likely to want to do that again; all members are welcome to participate at no additional cost.
